Join us to celebrate tropical temperatures in the winter – dress for a Hawaiian vacation or just come dressed as yourself! (Of course, all regular school dress code rules apply.) The first 200 dance attendees will receive a festive flower lei to add to their outfit. Pizza will be served halfway through the dance. Tickets will be sold at lunch – and only at lunch – on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Be sure to get your ticket and come party with us for the last all-school dance on Friday. Aloha!
3. Attention all Battle of the Books participants....TOMORROW is the Gurrie Battle. Please report to the Big gym at the start of 6th period. Make sure you wear your battle shirt and are prepared to celebrate your awesome READING! If you have any questions, see Mrs. Sutsser.
4. The 7th graders traveled to McClure and even though they took a loss, they were still cooking up some hot sauce. They fought hard with a tight saucy game and they were all putting their skills to test even though we took a loss all kept their spirits up. The bench was more hyper than the hype house. We are more prepared this time and are ready to go up against George Washington.
5. The 8th graders were cooking up some 5 star meals at their game at McClure. Maddie and Lydia had hot sauce for the meal. Reese and Izzy were setting them up to be pro chiefs. As the game went on Hannah and Sarah had a lot of digs, it was looking like we were starting a huge mine. While that was happening Claire, Lydia, Alita, Reese and Maddie were on board the .. Ace Train, "Choo Choo Choo Choo"! With all these amazing plays, Gurrie came out victorious! Daniel and Aldair were there as well catching them big stats. They are now ready to battle the Washington Patriots and give them what they have been cooking!
